Designing Business and IT

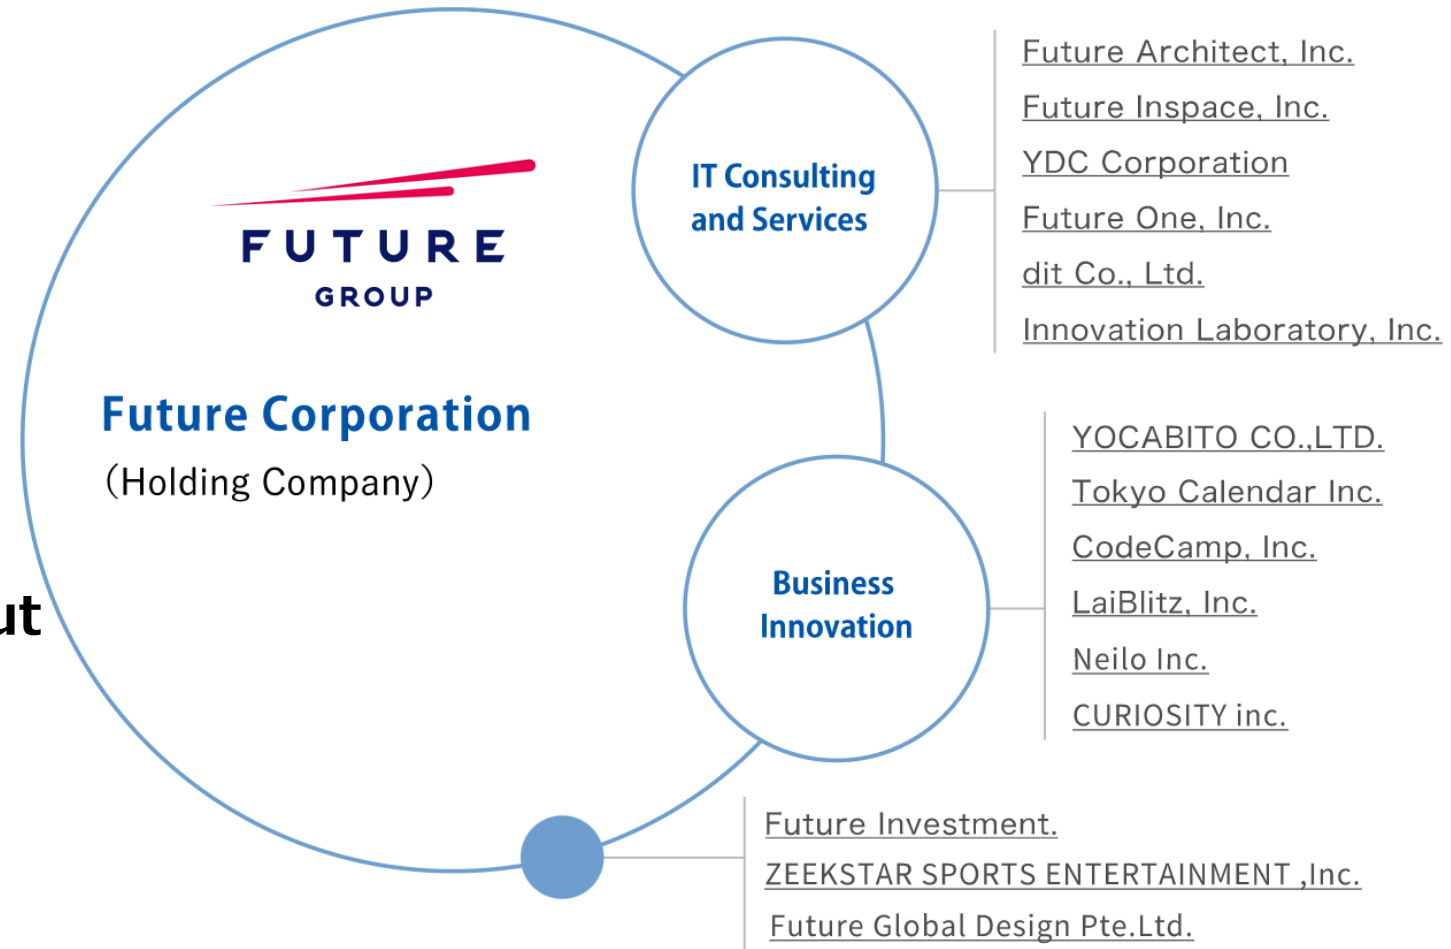

Future Group's mission is to understand the essence of our customer's business and provide technological solutions that create new values for our customer's future.

Management strategies, operation and operational IT systems must be considered as a whole, instead of thinking separately. Management strategies must directly influence the designing of IT systems. Our role is to create innovation through providing such strategic IT systems and maximizing our customer's business values.

3. Business and Services

IT Consulting and Services Business Innovation

- Future Group conducts business in two main areas: “IT Consulting and Services” and “Business Innovation”
- Business and technological know-hows cultivated throughout the years have contributed to establishment of new services in education, media and sports.

3. Business and Services

Business and Technology Experts gather to establish new business values for our customers.

- Future Architect leads the “IT Consulting and Services” business by working with customers that are facing different business issues.

- With technology at our core, both business and technology experts provide new value for our client’s future.

3. Business and Services

Supporting customers of different industries through IT since our foundation in 1989

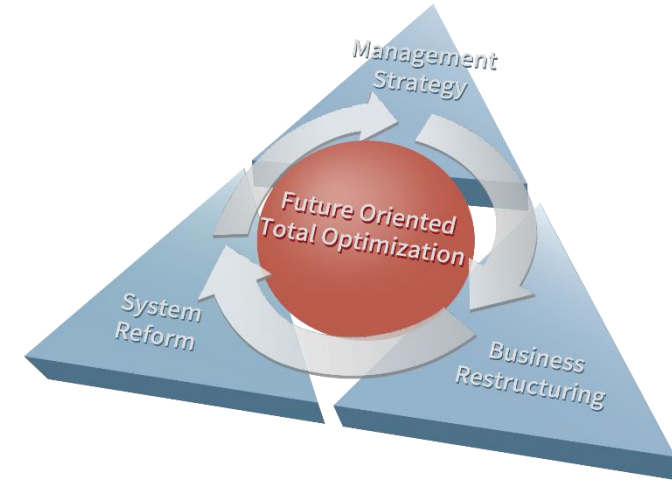

4. Future's Strength

Trinity Reform of Management, Operation and IT

Contributing to the continuous improvement of company value by providing consulting and building IT systems based on future prediction, total optimization and thinking from business, system and operational perspectives.

Utilizing technology from a neutral standpoint

Working neutrally alongside our clients as an external CIO, our mission is to maximize company value by realizing new methods of utilizing IT and reducing unnecessary IT cost.

4. Future's Strength

Total Project Management

With extensive business know-how and technological skills, our mission is to maximize our clients' value by working alongside from the Grand-Design (Strategic Planning) phase until the development, integration and maintenance phase.
